

Transformational

Leadership

This practical and interactive workshop will provide key insights from the business world to enhance your ministry as a leader. You will learn:

- The difference between task-driven and relationship-driven leadership
- How heightening the role of personal values can supercharge your work
- To view ministry through an organizational lens to highlight strengths and areas for growth.
- And More!

Through interaction with others and the ideas presented, you will assemble a toolkit of techniques for working effectively with staff and volunteers.

Fee: $30.00 per person for catechetical leaders and youth ministers from member parishes of Central and Western Maryland CEM Centers.
$40.00 per person for others. Includes continental breakfast and lunch.

A Workshop for YOU that's

Jeannette Suflita has worked for many years in the fields of ministry and business. She received her MA in Religious Education from Loyola University, Chicago. She worked for several years as a Catholic school educator, DRE and Archdiocesan staff member of what is now the Department of Catholic Education Ministries. In 1989 she joined the Johns Hopkins Hospital as a Training and Development Specialist, and pursued studies in organization development. She received a MS in Behavioral Science in 1994. Ms. Suflita currently leads a team of seven nurse educators at The Johns Hopkins Hospital as program director of a year-long internship program for new nurse graduates. She is also an organization development consultant for the Department of Nursing. It is in this role that she is often reconnected to her ministerial roots. Consider the request from a co-worker after attending a recent workshop she gave: "I appreciated your comments and it caused me to reflect on my other relationships. I've come to the conclusion that I'm not a very forgiving person. Is there some way I can learn how to forgive?"
